Col. John F. Philips has already med malthe promises of his friends in a speech of recent date in the House of Representa ties. The House had under consideration the inrisdiction of U. S. Circuit Courts Mr. Philips made the point that the jurisdiction was not sufficiently defined between the U. S. Courte and our State Courts, and that the former were trenching or I will reat my livery and cale stable on the jurisdiction of the inter. He Fifth street. The building is 130 feet showed very plainly that this was the whole capable of holding fifty homes apirit of our constitution, but worked great rend and Fairbente scales that is attached, our and other States. His amendment to will also be rented. There is in connection | was carried to the U. S. Circuit Court, the with the wagon yard, a brick bonce for the Reate Court being entitled to jurisdiction, of travelors and movers, is should be remanded at cost of the party there they can cook their meals. Terme in fault. We repeat again that Col. John P. Philips is the right man in the right and the State at large.
